

THE PROCEEDINGS

Of the January Term of the Bedford County Court.

JOHN ZIMMERMAN,

William Chambers and Madison Turner sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Court convened on Monday at 1:30 p. m., with Hon. John M. Bailey and his associates, Hon. D. H. Eichelberger and Hon. Isaiah Cooley, present. The court made their usual returns.

Grand jurors called and J. A. Benner, Robert Ford and J. H. Roudsbaugh were excused. Petit jurors called and J. A. Benner, Robert Ford and J. H. Roudsbaugh were excused. Petit jurors called and J. A. Benner, Robert Ford and J. H. Roudsbaugh were excused.

State of George W. Hixon, late of Bereth township, deceased, order of sale continued. Same estate, bond of trustee filed and approved.

Estate of Michael Hillegar, late of Juniata township, deceased, return to order of sale of real estate filed and confirmed nisi.

Estate of John Stayer, late of Woodbury township, deceased, order of S. R. Longenecker, Esq., auditor, filed and confirmed nisi and to be confirmed absolutely unless exceptions are filed within ten days.

Petition of Ellen Cypher, a daughter of David S. Koss, late of Liberty township, deceased, or writ of partition on said estate, read and filed and nisi partition awarded.

Estate of David S. Koss, late of South Woodbury township, deceased, order of S. R. Longenecker, Esq., auditor, filed and confirmed nisi and to be confirmed absolutely unless exceptions are filed within ten days.

Estate of Wallace S. Rock, late of Napier township, deceased, widow's inventory and appraisal filed and confirmed nisi.

A. J. Grassman was appointed guardian of the person of Kate Rock, minor children of Wallace S. Rock, late of Napier township, bond in $500 for both wards.

Harry E. Bulger was appointed guardian of Frederick P. Emma, Goldie and Benjamin H. Bulger, minor children of William Bulger, late of West Providence township, deceased. Bond in $100 for all his wards.

Estate of Mrs. Emma Elsher, petition of Alexander Elsher, guardian, for leave to pay his ward, Emma Elsher, the sum of $25 out of her share of said estate read and filed and leave granted.

Elizabeth Spriggs vs. William Spriggs, subpoena in divorce, certain, of K. F. Madore, Esq., master, continued.

James B. Cessna vs. Sarah Cessna, subpoena in divorce, rule on libellant to show cause why he should not pay expenses, etc., of wife in defending the cause read and filed and order on argument list. Same day answer to rule filed.

U. H. Gibboney, trading as the Cot Tag Machine Mill Co., vs. William E. Johnson, motion to strike case from trial list read and filed and case stricken from trial list for January term, 1922.

Estate of Solomon Bohm, late of Harrison township, deceased, agreement of widow and heirs as to acquisition of rule on heirs, etc., read and approved.

Estate of Solomon Bohm, late of Harrison township, alias writ of partition filed and confirmed nisi.

Estate of Abram L. Karm, late of West Providence township, deceased, return to order of sale of real estate confirmed nisi.

Estate of Susan T. Bulker, late of West Providence township, deceased, report of Joseph F. Biddle, Esq., auditor, filed and confirmed absolutely.

Estate of James Corley, late of Juniata township, deceased, widow's inventory and appraisal filed.

Estate of Jacob W. Miller, late of Bedford borough, deceased, petition of C. C. Wright, administrator, to have account in statement of aggregate amount of credits corrected read and filed and correction allowed.

Estate of James Lyons, late of South Woodbury township, deceased, report of Howard Cessna, Esq., auditor, filed and confirmed nisi and to be confirmed absolutely unless exceptions are filed within ten days.

Estate of Jacob W. Miller, late of Bedford borough, deceased, report of Joseph F. Biddle, Esq., auditor, filed and confirmed nisi.

Estate of Isaac Kensingler, late of Liberty township, deceased, petition of administrator to sell real estate read and filed and leave granted.

Petition of citizens of West Providence township for the appointment of viewers to view public road from William Smith's, in said township, to a point on public road leading to Bereth, read and filed and leave granted.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Raystown Branch of the Juniata river, near the Grand Central hotel, in Bedford borough, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

No. 6, September sessions, 1901, in re-bridge over Yellow creek, in South Woodbury township, near the village of Lysburg, grand jury concurs in the report of the viewers.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Those Who Have Been Called To Their Eternal Home.

WILLIAM DEREMER,

Mrs. Elizabeth Nawgel, widow of John P. Deremer, died at her home in Bedford township, on Thursday, January 19, 1922, at the age of 74 years.

William Deremer was born, raised and died on the same farm. With the exception of the time he was in the army he has lived continuously here at Centerville and on his farm, two miles north of Centerville. About the year 1860 he was married to Miss Annie Elliott, who died on June 18, 1890. One child was born to this union, but it only lived a few days. In 1891 he married Miss Emma Miller. She preceded him to the great beyond on July 7, 1901. His age was sixty-five years, ten months and sixteen days. Interment in the Lutheran cemetery, the Rev. A. S. Beane officiating. He was a member of the Methodist Protestant church for forty years. He was elected a justice of the peace in 1890 and served with credit for five years. During the term he returned but one case to court. He was a charter member of the I. O. O. F. lodge which was instituted here in 1878. He is survived by two sisters—Mrs. Caroline Robinson, of Pleasant Valley, and Mrs. W. H. Rose, of Centerville. Four brothers and one sister preceded him to the spirit land. He was a quiet, inoffensive man and in his death the community has lost one of its best citizens.

Centerville, January 21.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nawgel, whose death at her home near Centerville, on Thursday, January 19, 1922, was mentioned in last week's Gazette, was the widow of Henry Nawgel. She had been sick less than two weeks. Her age was seventy-three years and nine months. She was an active, devoted member of the Reformed church and was a tireless worker in many a worthy cause. The interment took place in St. Paul's Reformed cemetery, near Centerville, her pastor, Rev. B. F. Bauman, conducting the burial service at the grave. Her maiden name was Zimmerman. She is survived by the following children: Frank, living at home; Harry, residing near Wolfburg; Jacob, of Altoona, and Mrs. Mary Kitchey, of Hyndman. Seven brothers and sisters also survive: David Zimmerman, of near Wolfburg; George, of near Wolfburg; Mrs. Bettie Mann, of near Wolfburg; Mrs. Mary Dittmar, of the Willows, near Centerville; and Mrs. Mollie Jones, of Helena, O.

On January 17, 1922, an aged and respected citizen of Napier township, died at his home in Helixville, aged seventy years, eleven months and seven days, leaving a wife and the following sons to mourn his death: J. Stephen, of Helixville; Frank, of Pittsburgh; William, of Helixville, and George, of Helixville. In 1861 the deceased was united in marriage to Miss Henrietta Bender. Mrs. Bender was a member of the Reformed church in former years, but for several years and up to the time of his death was a consistent member of the United Evangelical church. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Bowman, at Helixville, Interment in the Evangelical cemetery at New Paris on Monday. The pall bearers were James Crawford, William Rinsow, Elmer Oyler, William Bence, James H. Ellenberger and John H. Orisman. A daughter of deceased, Cora, died on February 23, 1888.

Mrs. Franklin Hall, of South Bedford township, died on Thursday of last week. He was a son of Jacob Hall and was twenty-three years old. On October 10, 1900, he was united in marriage to Miss Beulah Morris, daughter of the late Richard Morris, of Cumberland Valley, deceased. His wife and one child survive him. He also survived by his parents, one brother and several sisters. The funeral services were held on Saturday. The deceased worked at the Mann's Choice tannery for about a year. Last spring he became ill and returned to the home of his father, where he died. He was an honest, industrious young man.

Franklin Weber, whose illness we mentioned last week, died at the home of his brother in Cumberland Monday night. The cause of death was diphtheria. The body was laid to rest in St. Peter and Paul's cemetery in Cumberland. The deceased was a son of Nicholas Weber, of South Bedford township, and was about twenty-three years old. He was a young man of excellent character and had many friends. He was a member of St. Thomas Catholic church in Bedford. His father, his step-mother and two brothers—Joseph, of Cumberland, and George, of South Bedford township—survive him.

Mrs. Mary Miller, (colored), widow of David Miller, died at the almshouse on Sunday. The deceased was an inmate of the almshouse department for many years. She was a daughter of the late Nelson Gates and about forty-five years old.

Mrs. Bettie Shaffer, widow of John P. Shaffer, late of East St. Clair township, died on Sunday, January 15, aged about ninety-four years. The body was interred in the Schellburg cemetery on Friday.

Cyrus Way, an old and honored citizen of near Helixville, died Friday morning, aged about eighty years. Mr. Way was well known and respected by all who knew him.

Mrs. George Ferguson, died at her residence near Fishertown Saturday morning, aged about eighty years. The deceased is survived by her husband and three small children.

Thomas McCreary, who has been an inmate of the almshouse for many years, died on Sunday. He was seventy-two years old.

Minnie, daughter of Mrs. Margie Brown (colored), of Bereth, died at the Municipal hospital in Philadelphia on Friday. The cause of her death was smallpox.

(Continued on fourth page.)

GRAND CONCERT AT HYNDMAN.

Excellent Entertainment Given in the Big Borough Up the Way.

COVER THE VALLEYS AND FOOT-HILLS OF SUNDAY

Interlocking Letter From Thomas Z. Fisher—A Member of the Bedford County Board of Supervisors.

REDLANDS, CAL., January 13.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Of the flowers, shrubs, semi-tropical plants, oranges, lemons and almost perfect climate of southern California you must all doubtless have heard, nevertheless I may be able to mention something concerning this particular place which may interest some of our readers.

After almost five days of continuous travel we woke up Sunday morning, November 3, in sunny southern California. We were in the minute we looked out, the minute we breathed a breath of fragrant air, and what a relief to the eye to see orange groves covering the valleys and high up the foothills, century plants and pepper trees in abundance, cottages covered with climbing roses and other flowering vines. No more sage brush, Indians, Mexicans, mud huts and sandy deserts for me.

Once in Redlands, for that was our destination, we saw many things that were old and one could easily catch himself standing with open mouth looking at some, to him, unusual sight. For instance, one bright Sunday afternoon I was attracted to an open lot, at some distance from town, by the shouts of a crowd and the waving of red and blue flags. In a few minutes I was witness to a deadly Mexican bull fight. They seemed to think it was the real thing and enjoyed it immensely. I thought it was rather tame, however, compared to what I had expected, for the bull was a big Mexican buck and not a furious one at that. Another instance that I remember clearly: One morning I actually saw two of our party chase a street cat out of town to see what made it go. It was the money, of course, as they afterward found. I won't mention any names. There are not the only instances by any means. I simply mention them in passing.

Redlands lies in the extreme eastern end of San Bernardino Valley, with an elevation of 1,350 feet, and at a distance of seventy miles from the coast, surrounded on three sides by high mountains, and this protected situation unquestionably has a more equable and desirable climate than is possible at other places where fog and high winds are frequent. The city has an area of 19 square miles, though it is not built up closely. There are many large groves not far from the business section, so that, standing off on a height, one falls to see a city at all. Some are looking at an immense park of orange, lemon, and other fruit trees. In fact, the whole valley is an immense grove with here and there a few cultivated fields. Even the foothills are covered with groves of the greenest green, in striking contrast to the dead reddish dirt that the sage brush gives to the mountains in the distance.

The mountain ridge on the north and east averages about 5,000 feet in height, with "Old Baldy," 10,000 feet; "Gray Back," over 12,000 feet, and far off in the southeast, the majestic San Jacinto, 11,000 feet. These three peaks mentioned are snow capped and many times cloud capped. The entire range is almost treeless and the white bed rock is plain to sight, giving to the landscape a peculiar appearance of bareness and grandeur. The foothills are covered with sage and other brush.

Redlands has many things to boast of besides her climate and among them are the Smiley public library and Canon Crest park, the winter home of the Smiley brothers. It is a private park but open to the public at all times. It contains 300 acres of rolling hills, and is kept in the most perfect state of cultivation, with over a thousand varieties of trees, shrubs and some tropical flowers. Fine roads wind through the park, so that one can see every beauty spot as well as get a fine view of the city, for it is possibly four hundred feet higher than the city.

All this beauty and wealth have been brought about by means of water. A system of irrigation that has cost millions has transformed a barren waste into a garden of fertility and productivity. The Bear Valley dam, a wonder of engineering skill, supplies most of the water for irrigating purposes; besides this there are numerous wells sunk by private enterprise. The city also has its own pumping plant. It is not for my pen to describe the beauty of this little city and surrounding. A writer of ability might fail entirely in such an attempt. Would be glad, however, to hear from any of my Pennsylvania friends, furnish information as to the country or of be service to anyone thinking of coming west.

REDLANDS, CAL.

WILLIAM DEREMER, late of Cumberland Valley township, bequeaths three-fourths of all of his property to Barton C. Smith, a young man whom he raised. All the remainder of his estate he gives to Mrs. Charles V. Deremer and Mrs. Rufus Conner, share and share alike.

Barton C. Smith and Charles Conner are named as executors and are directed to sell all of decedent's real estate.

J. E. Gibson, late of Colorado township, gives to his son Carlton all of his personal property. Testator appoints Mrs. Elen Pessy guardian of his son and executrix of his will.

Charles W. Barber, of Reeling Spring, and Rachel J. Lehman, of Matinsburg.

David R. Reay, of Salemville, and Rebecca Geyer, of Lysburg.

Harry S. Moore, of Altoona, and Florence V. Price, of Bedford.

At the passage of St. Thomas Roman Catholic church Monday morning, Harry S. Moore, a locomotive fireman of Altoona, and Miss Florence V. Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price, of Bedford, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Denis Cashman. The happy young couple will reside in the Mountain City.

ORANGE GROVES

Cover the Valleys and Foot-Hills of Sunday

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Interlocking Letter From Thomas Z. Fisher—A Member of the Bedford County Board of Supervisors.

REDLANDS, CAL., January 13.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Of the flowers, shrubs, semi-tropical plants, oranges, lemons and almost perfect climate of southern California you must all doubtless have heard, nevertheless I may be able to mention something concerning this particular place which may interest some of our readers.

After almost five days of continuous travel we woke up Sunday morning, November 3, in sunny southern California. We were in the minute we looked out, the minute we breathed a breath of fragrant air, and what a relief to the eye to see orange groves covering the valleys and high up the foothills, century plants and pepper trees in abundance, cottages covered with climbing roses and other flowering vines. No more sage brush, Indians, Mexicans, mud huts and sandy deserts for me.

Once in Redlands, for that was our destination, we saw many things that were old and one could easily catch himself standing with open mouth looking at some, to him, unusual sight. For instance, one bright Sunday afternoon I was attracted to an open lot, at some distance from town, by the shouts of a crowd and the waving of red and blue flags. In a few minutes I was witness to a deadly Mexican bull fight. They seemed to think it was the real thing and enjoyed it immensely. I thought it was rather tame, however, compared to what I had expected, for the bull was a big Mexican buck and not a furious one at that. Another instance that I remember clearly: One morning I actually saw two of our party chase a street cat out of town to see what made it go. It was the money, of course, as they afterward found. I won't mention any names. There are not the only instances by any means. I simply mention them in passing.

Redlands lies in the extreme eastern end of San Bernardino Valley, with an elevation of 1,350 feet, and at a distance of seventy miles from the coast, surrounded on three sides by high mountains, and this protected situation unquestionably has a more equable and desirable climate than is possible at other places where fog and high winds are frequent. The city has an area of 19 square miles, though it is not built up closely. There are many large groves not far from the business section, so that, standing off on a height, one falls to see a city at all. Some are looking at an immense park of orange, lemon, and other fruit trees. In fact, the whole valley is an immense grove with here and there a few cultivated fields. Even the foothills are covered with groves of the greenest green, in striking contrast to the dead reddish dirt that the sage brush gives to the mountains in the distance.

The mountain ridge on the north and east averages about 5,000 feet in height, with "Old Baldy," 10,000 feet; "Gray Back," over 12,000 feet, and far off in the southeast, the majestic San Jacinto, 11,000 feet. These three peaks mentioned are snow capped and many times cloud capped. The entire range is almost treeless and the white bed rock is plain to sight, giving to the landscape a peculiar appearance of bareness and grandeur. The foothills are covered with sage and other brush.

Redlands has many things to boast of besides her climate and among them are the Smiley public library and Canon Crest park, the winter home of the Smiley brothers. It is a private park but open to the public at all times. It contains 300 acres of rolling hills, and is kept in the most perfect state of cultivation, with over a thousand varieties of trees, shrubs and some tropical flowers. Fine roads wind through the park, so that one can see every beauty spot as well as get a fine view of the city, for it is possibly four hundred feet higher than the city.

All this beauty and wealth have been brought about by means of water. A system of irrigation that has cost millions has transformed a barren waste into a garden of fertility and productivity. The Bear Valley dam, a wonder of engineering skill, supplies most of the water for irrigating purposes; besides this there are numerous wells sunk by private enterprise. The city also has its own pumping plant. It is not for my pen to describe the beauty of this little city and surrounding. A writer of ability might fail entirely in such an attempt. Would be glad, however, to hear from any of my Pennsylvania friends, furnish information as to the country or of be service to anyone thinking of coming west.

REDLANDS, CAL.

WILLIAM DEREMER, late of Cumberland Valley township, bequeaths three-fourths of all of his property to Barton C. Smith, a young man whom he raised. All the remainder of his estate he gives to Mrs. Charles V. Deremer and Mrs. Rufus Conner, share and share alike.

Barton C. Smith and Charles Conner are named as executors and are directed to sell all of decedent's real estate.

J. E. Gibson, late of Colorado township, gives to his son Carlton all of his personal property. Testator appoints Mrs. Elen Pessy guardian of his son and executrix of his will.

Charles W. Barber, of Reeling Spring, and Rachel J. Lehman, of Matinsburg.

David R. Reay, of Salemville, and Rebecca Geyer, of Lysburg.

Harry S. Moore, of Altoona, and Florence V. Price, of Bedford.

At the passage of St. Thomas Roman Catholic church Monday morning, Harry S. Moore, a locomotive fireman of Altoona, and Miss Florence V. Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price, of Bedford, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Denis Cashman. The happy young couple will reside in the Mountain City.

NEWS ITEMS.

The Daily Happenings Gathered and Briefly Recorded.

ADROIT LEADERSHIP

Prevents Serious Disturbances In the Republican Ranks.

ARROGANT SENATORS

Lord It Over the House of Representatives—Deliberate on the Philippine Tariff Bill—The Hawaiian Canal.

WASHINGTON, January 21.—The most adroit leadership in both the senate and the house has alone prevented the development of serious factional disturbances in Republican ranks during the week just passed and it is only a question of time when they will break out in a violent form on the floor of those bodies. It is difficult for one not actually on the scene to appreciate to what an extent the house of representatives has ceased to be a deliberative body. For a time the Republican members felt themselves repaid for their loss of power by the example of perfect discipline which they set the country, but now that they are in so great a majority as to believe themselves relieved from the danger of Democratic aggression, they are longing for the birthright which they bargained.

Snarling with a sense of their loss of influence, the representatives are humiliated by the arrogance of certain senators who today openly say that the attitude of the house toward any of the important questions which congress must answer is of no importance, as the senate can and will rectify the errors of the "impulsive and irresponsible" lower body. Senator Cullum is today preparing a speech in support of his contention that the house has no right to be heard in the matter of reciprocal treaties which are the subject of a matter for the senate and the president alone to consider. In view of the very important subject of reciprocity with Cuba which must soon be determined, the position of the senatorial majority is particularly exasperating. There is no mistaking the intent of the Dingy bill, which says that such treaties must be approved by "congress," but Senators Cullum, Lodge, Spooner, Frye, Hanna and others hold to the opinion that, according to the Constitution, the president alone constitutes the treaty making power. Senator Lodge modifies his opinion somewhat, however, by saying that he believes that it would be courteous to consult the house, because any reciprocal treaty affects the question of raising revenue.

The Philippine tariff bill will be reported to the senate today or tomorrow and it is predicted that the debate on its provisions will last for a month. Senator Lodge professes to believe that it will be eventually passed as reported but there are members of his own party who greatly differ from him and who say that it will have to be referred back to the committee.

Prominent among these is Senator Mitchell, of Oregon. After the bill passes through the senate it will have to pass the house and if the republicans fail to carry the senate, the bill will be referred back to the committee.

The isthmian canal, while by no means a partisan question, is capable of causing trouble that may develop into a serious situation. Senator Morgan, who is firmly committed to the Nicaragua route, has recently and seriously disapproved of the result of his interview with the president. He is also much disturbed at Senator Hanna's apparent disaffection in favor of the Darien route. This route would require the construction of a tunnel 6 miles long through a solid granite mountain and the senator from Alabama considers it lacking in feasibility and its agitation merely an attempt to delay canal legislation.

The senate committee on commerce has authorized a favorable report on the Hanna-Frye subsidy bill by a strict party vote, every Democrat on the committee voting against it. Senator Hanna makes the extravagant claims for the bill and in the main his colleagues are obliged to take his word in the matter as there is probably no other man in the senate who can tell just how the bill will work when put in practice. It now seems probable that the bill will pass the senate under pressure of the party lash, but it is very doubtful if it can get through the house. Every Democrat in the house will vote against it and there are said to be a number of Republicans who regard a vote for the bill as political suicide.

"The anarchy bills are going to make trouble in the house," said a Democratic member from New York when I asked him why congress was doing nothing in a matter on which all the members seemed to be much of a mind. "There is little difference in the minds of the members as to the necessity of passing a bill to prevent anarchists coming into the country, but there is great jealousy in the committee in regard to the matter. General Shattuck, chairman of the committee on immigration, does not consider that the judiciary committee has the right to pass on any measure which deals with immigration. The members of the judiciary committee themselves are jealous of Chairman Shattuck, and he is jealous of the authority of the bill that finally passes. As to the Democrats, they are not involved except in so far as they may be called upon to protest against any measure which violates state rights."

Services at St. James'.

St. James' Protestant Episcopal church, Rev. Dr. Thomas Duncan, rector: Services on Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

100

9

_____

100 ten and e ¼ rs—

ids;
let.
all stra-ois.

---

ash

ring
nts' ever

---

nitro

erty
 arly
 ade can well et-in
 ; re-here irts pro-out.
 islin
 long 3 for

•

ed in s of ding
r 18
.

10

t in most done em-ting

1 rest ed-ust.

ow on-ad.
non
—
ese me

—

.84
 2 50
 up dly with file!

1

to being er-ings of men ey
for ch.
—

ny [REDACTED]

ARCHIVE®